Overview

Dr. Indumathy Ramachandran is an esteemed ophthalmologist based in Hyderabad, Telangana, boasting over 20 years of extensive experience in the field of eye care. She holds multiple prestigious qualifications including MBBS, DO from CMC Vellore, DNB in Ophthalmology, and is a Fellow of the International College of Ophthalmology (FICO) in Cambridge, UK. Dr. Ramachandran specializes in a wide range of ophthalmologic procedures with a focus on cataract surgery, cornea, and laser refractive surgery.

Her professional journey includes receiving the Best Free Paper award in Cornea from the All India Ophthalmological Society in 2009. Since 2010, she has actively contributed as part of the teaching faculty for Lamellar Corneal Transplant Courses (DALK, DSEK, DMEK) conducted by Apollo Hospitals, aimed at training fellow surgeons from both national and international backgrounds. Her training also includes a significant fellowship in Cornea and External Disease and Refractive Surgery at Apollo Hospitals, where she gained expertise in evaluating and managing various corneal disorders and performing advanced surgeries such as corneal transplantation and laser refractive procedures.

In addition to her expert surgical skills, Dr. Ramachandran has broadened her horizons through hands-on observership in New York, USA, which enriched her understanding of global practices in ophthalmology. She is multilingual, fluent in English, Hindi, Telugu, Tamil, and Malayalam, allowing her to cater to a diverse patient population. Her commitment to excellence and passion for teaching reflects not only in her clinical practices but also in her educational initiatives aimed at shaping future generations of ophthalmologists.
